

Mark Hummel at Dave's

Well, the evening got off to a great start with the workshop prior to the performance this night (See workshop review and pic's in gallery).

Kim Harpo started the gig off, opening for Mark, I had never seen Kim before, he did a great job and is a very good harp player. Apparently good friends with Mark too, giving Mark credit for his first lessons.

Marks band played a couple of songs with out him then Mark came on stage and commenced to "blowing his horn" one of the crowd favorites would probably have been "creeper" by James Cotton, which Mark nail to the wall.

As the band took a break and many faithful felt they should head out I over heard Mark asking D.W. to come up and play, I knew something different was going to happen cause in the room this night was Earl "the Pearl" and Kim Harpo.

The next set starts and Mark performs several more harp masterpieces, then ask D.W. to come up, now I've seen D.W. tear the house down in the middle of a Jason Ricci gig so I had no doubt of what he was capable of and he didn't disappoint tonight.

The grand finale was Mark Hummel, D.W. Gill, Kim Harpo and Earl "the Pearl" wailing away on stage one after another and remarkable spectacle.

Glad I stayed!
